

Relocate your Business during the Pandemic?...

"They said it couldn't be done. They said it was too much. They said it was risky in such troubled times... Well, I like a challenge!" said Design Pit founder Gareth Robertson.

"The business is agile enough to operate from anywhere so I wasn't worried about relocating from north Birmingham to south Wiltshire. I was slightly concerned about the timing. But despite moving during the pandemic, things are going well; so far, so good..."

"We help businesses get seen, heard and remembered with powerful graphic design. We help with corporate identity, branding, print design, packaging design, websites, apps and social media content creation".

"My background is in branding, design for print and packaging but more recently I've started to do a lot more website and social media work. I could be designing a brochure for a law firm and a logo for a recruitment company one day, a website for a cafe bar the next and a box design for a desktop telephone after that. That was literally how my week panned out recently; there is so much variation in what we do at Design Pit!"

"I also broker a lot of print for clients. For example, we'd design a brochure and then manage the printing. This is a great added extra but can be quite time consuming. So during lockdown, I set up Print Pit. An eCommerce printing site that allows customers to generate prices and place orders quickly online. The automated system cuts out the 'leg work' in pricing and means customers can get prices and order faster".

Design Pit and Print Pit have officially landed on the south coast! A boutique design and marketing business that gives customers complete creative control over their marketing and communications.
